

HERMAN ZE GERMAN

& FRIENDS

Herman 'The German' Rarebell is a German drummer, best known for his time in the band Scorpions from 1977 to 1995, playing on 8 studio albums. Rarebell's English was the best in the band at the time of his joining and he was an important composer in the history of the group, writing classic songs like 'Another Piece of Meat', 'Falling in Love' and the second single from Savage Amusement 'Passion Rules The Game' and writing the lyrics for some of the most classic songs of the band like 'Rock You Like a Hurricane', 'Make It Real', 'Dynamite', 'Blackout', 'Arizona', 'Bad Boys Running Wild', 'Don't Stop At The Top', 'Tease Me Please Me' and other songs.

In 1982 he released his first solo album Nip In The Bud (which he re-recorded as 'Herman ze German & Friends' with the help of some friends of his as guests, such as members of Dokken, Great White, Ratt, etc.) He remains the only member of the Scorpions to have released a solo project while still a full member of the band.

Later on, he co-created Monaco Records with Prince Albert of Monaco. On August 3, 2006 he joined the Scorpions onstage at the Wacken Festival, as a special guest along with Uli Jon Roth and Michael Schenker. In 2009, Rarebell released his audio book, "My Life As A Scorpion".
