Jennifer Richman fuses textures of folk and pop with a sweet, soothing voice to create songs that are easy to relate to and inspirational to the listener. Her music is internationally recognized for its lyrical content, bringing to the forefront femininity and being human.

Biography:

Jennifer Richman is a New York born and raised singer/songwriter who is about to release her new single, "Beautiful Girl", produced by Mike Rogers (Deee-Lite - Groove is in the Heart, Chubby Checker - All the Best & Knock Down the Walls). As a songwriter, her strengths are notably lyrical composition as well as a knack for writing effective "hooks" which are memorable and pleasing to the listener. Her lyrics communicate delicate global themes of experience and perception expressed with simplicity and uplifting style. She performs live with her three piece band or solo, accompanying herself on both acoustic guitar and piano.

Jennifer is currently touring on both the national and local levels, performing in notable NYC venues such as Rockwood Music Hall, the Bitter End, and Southpaw. When not in the studio, writing, or performing, Jennifer spends time organizing and directing concerts for the disabled in the NYC area and regularly lectures at the acclaimed Columbia University and Downstate University about the benefits of music in rehabilitation of autism.

Reviews:

"Jennifer has a sweet, soothing voice and has a way of simply expressing herself. It is no wonder why fans say they can relate to her songs." (Podfeeder)

"This record would be of interest to anybody who likes folk music, and possibly to Country fans as well." (Now On Tour)

"Remarkable songwriting and a gift for drawing you in with each word spoken" (Independents Only)
